

NO TENT WILL HOLD
ENDEAVOR HOSTSTHRONGS OVERFLOW THE TENTS OF BOSTON.

Early in the Day Every Building and Tent Used for the Meeting Was Jammed Full to the Doors and Many Were Turned Away—To Form a World Society.

Boston, July 13.—Great crowds were unable to obtain admission to the hall or tents in which Endeavor meetings were held today. Immense throngs pressed about the entrances and were turned away. Thousands were up almost with the sun, making their way to thirty churches in the city and vicinity to attend the early prayer meetings that began at 6:30 and lasted forty-five minutes. After the church meetings rallies and song services were held in the streets in many parts of the city, and hundreds of people on their way to work stopped to participate in them. The morning sessions of the convention in tents, Williston and Endeavor and in Mechanics' hall were attended by the same great hosts that were there the day before. The sessions partook more of a business character than their predecessors, interesting reports of the information committees and reports from the denominational meetings taking up an hour of the meetings in the tents. Features of the sessions were the presentation of the state banner for the greatest proportionate increase in the number of local societies, of the State Banner for the greatest absolute gain in the number of societies, and of the Junior State banners for the greatest proportionate and greatest actual gain in the number of societies. The open debates on live endeavor topics at each of the meetings were earnestly participated in, and were interesting features. The address of President E. A. Turner, D. D., of Lincoln, Ill., whose subject was "I Ought, Therefore I Can," delivered in Mechanics' building, was heartily received and produced much enthusiasm. The praise and prayer services at the morning meetings were not a bit less earnest than they have been since the convention opened and with the chorus singing continue to be the great inspiration of the gatherings.

When the service in Mechanics' hall began every seat in the hall was filled and hundreds were standing. The Rev. M. Rhodes of St. Louis presided and opened the meeting at 9:30, and the Rev. J. D. Pickles of Boston offered prayer. William T. Ellis of the Golden Rule, in his report of the information committee, told how the Christian Endeavor had spanned the world.

At Tent Endeavor the crowds were immense, the sides of the tent being looped up to allow 30,000 unable to obtain admittance to participate in the service. The Rev. Howard B. Grose of Chicago presided and George K. Somers of Boston led the chorus. George B. Graff of Boston read the information committee's report, which discussed the wonderful advance of the endeavor work. The Rev. J. F. Cowan of Pittsburgh, Pa., conducted one of the most interesting parts of the service—the presentation of junior state banners, one for the greatest absolute gain in the number of societies, the other for greatest proportionate gain. Pennsylvania received the first banner and Assiniboia, dominion of Canada, the second. President A. E. Turner, A. M., made the subject of his address "The Purification of Politics."

C. E. Pierce of New York advocated the ballot for women. The presentation of the state banner to the English branch for the greatest absolute gain in number of societies was made by the Rev. F. E. R. Hamilton of Newtonville. Dr. Knight, the secretary of the British section, in accepting the banner, said that the societies of the united kingdom had increased by 2,000 in the last year.

In the afternoon 1,000 of the most prominent delegates met in the Auditorium to consider the formation of a World's Endeavor society. The general sentiment was favorable to the plan, and it was voted to temporarily organize and to appoint a committee of five to formulate plans of organization and report at Washington next year. The name decided on was the World's Christian Endeavor union, its officers to be representatives of the unions of each nation.

FOR CHATTANOOGA.

Indications Point to a Large Attendance at the Dedication.

Washington, July 13.—Indications here point to a very large attendance of men of national prominence on the occasion of the dedication of the national military park at Chattanooga in September. The details providing for the entertainment of the congressional committees were left to the sergeant-at-arms of the senate, who on July 1 sent out invitations to the fifty-six senators and members constituting the joint committee. He has received responses to a large number of these invitations and in all cases except one has obtained assurance of the intention of the person designated to attend. Seven members of the senate participated in the battles in the vicinity of Chattanooga and they are among the members of that body who are expected to take part in the dedicatory exercises.

Improvement of Teachers.

Denver, Col., July 13.—At the session of the National Educational association convention yesterday the instruction and improvement of teachers now at work in schools was the general subject of discussion.

Los Angeles, Duluth and Asbury Park were nominated for the place holding the next meeting. The votes were 12, 9 and 7, respectively. The matter was then referred to the executive committee.

Cassatt to Be Tried.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 13.—Six-State Senator E. R. Cassatt, who, as president, wrecked the Pella National Bank, has been indicted by the federal grand jury at Keokuk and taken there

TRADE LOOKS BRIGHT TO DUN.

July Business Would Be Satisfactory Even for Big Years.

New York, July 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "A business flood so strong and rapid that the conservative fear it may do harm is out of season in July. But the seasons this year lap over each other. May frosts and frosts, it is now evident, kept back much business that would naturally have been finished before midsummer, and the delayed accumulation of one season gets in the way of efforts to begin another time. But the volume of business, however, it may be assured, is remarkably large for the month, even in a good year. The exaggerated fears about crops have passed, the syndicate is believed to be both able and determined to protect the treasury, and the time draws near when the marketing of the new crops will turn into a national balance if speculation does not hinder."

"The week has been notable for a sensational fall in wheat of 8 cents in two days, followed by recovery of 5 cents, though neither accords any interpretation of the quite disregarded government report. The sudden drop in prices was the result of speculative rather than commercial influences, though exports not half as large as last year, 2,097,645 bushels (four included) from Atlantic ports for two weeks of July, against 4,227,915 last year, had their effect, as well as Western receipts of 1,937,474 bushels against 2,156,918 last year."

"The latest news indicates an enormous crop of corn, much the largest ever grown if the weather favors, but the price is only 1/2 cent lower than a week ago."

"Cotton has not changed, though speculation still turns wholly on prospects, regardless of enormous stocks carried over. In Europe the manufacture lags, but here it is satisfactory."

"The weekly output of iron was 171,194 tons, having risen 13,970 tons in June and where furnaces have gone into operation since July 4. The rapid rise in prices has brought into operation many additional works, and there is a rush to buy before prices advance further."

"Wool is still advancing, with enormous sales, 12,714,000 pounds for the week, and in two weeks of July, 26,497,614 pounds, as sold against 11,986,550 in the same week of 1892. As the sales are about four times the weekly consumption, it is obvious that the market is essentially speculative, but the rise abroad has set the country ablaze, so that Western holders are asking even higher prices than heretofore."

"Labor controversies in woolen mills have generally resulted against the workers, although some advance in wages has been obtained, but a strike of carpet weavers at Philadelphia already affects several thousand and threatens to include a great many more, an advance of 7 1/2 cents being demanded, while the market for goods is so dull and weak that manufacturers unitedly refuse."

"Cotton goods continue active and strong, with comparatively little difficulty as to labor. The Northern mills have taken little over 100,000 bales in the past three months, since cotton was below 7 cents, but with cotton bought cheap for five months ahead, they are able to do good business."

"Failures this week have been 253 in the United States, against 247 last year, and 35 in Canada, against 49 last year."

ZIMMERMAN'S FAST MILE.

Follows a "Quad" in 1:57 4-5—Could Have Gone Faster.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 13.—The most exciting event of the day yesterday was Zimmerman's mile in 1:57 4-5, paced by a quad, which at no time set the pace heavy enough to get away from him. All who saw the performance were satisfied that "Zim" could easily have ridden several seconds faster had the pace-makers been able to set it for him. Summary of the races:

One-half mile novice, class A—E. W. Swanbrough, Denver, first; time, 1:16 2-5.

Two-thirds mile, open, special, class B—Won by E. C. Bald, Buffalo; time, 1:41.

One mile handicap, class A—W. A. Brown, New York, 60 yards, first; time, 2:21 2-5.

Half mile national championship—E. C. Bald, Buffalo, first; time, 1:22 2-5.

Two mile handicap, class B, special, 17 starters—C. A. Church, Chester, Pa., 140 yards, first; time, 4:25 2-5.

M. F. Dirnberger rode a one-mile exhibition, paced by the Syracuse quad, in 2:01.

One mile handicap, professional, prizes $75, $40, $25, $10—Alva Stewart, Ridley Park, 100 yards, first.

Out of a field of fifteen starters, 1 mile open, class A, with tandem pace-makers, was won by Tom Butler, Boston.

Cattle Concern in Trouble.

Kansas City, Mo., July 13.—George E. Black and George A. Neal have been appointed by United States Judge Phillips receivers for the Campbell Commission Company. The company is an Illinois corporation, doing a cattle commission business in Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, South Omaha and Fort Worth. The present assets, other than the money owed to the company by the cattle raisers and prospective commissions of $100,000, are estimated at $100,000, of which one-half is available.

Decisive Battle Impends.

Havana, July 13.—General Campos has moved from Plascho to Tunas de Jas. Gomez marched as far as the dividing line between Port au Principe and Remedio provinces and then fell back to a point near Puerto Principe, where he has fortified his forces. The clash between the Spanish and insurgent forces has been averted for the present by this movement, so far as the two leading armies are concerned. A decisive battle is expected at no distant day. The Cuban leaders believe the Spanish government intends to make an aggressive warfare from this on.

Cloverdale (Ind.) Bank Suspends.

Greencastle, Ind., July 13.—The Cloverdale Bank, at Cloverdale, closed its doors yesterday. The bank was regarded as perfectly solvent, and it is thought that the depositors are secured.

FIRES IN MICHIGAN
CHECKED BY RAINREPORTS SHOW EXTENSIVE DAMAGE DONE.

Showers Have Checked the Spread Of the Flames—Details of the Destruction of Wallin—Brave Rescue by Railroad Men at the Peril of Their Own Lives.

Detroit, Mich., July 13.—Forest fires in the northern part of the lower peninsula of Michigan have been checked, but not extinguished, by gentle showers. The rain area seems to have extended from Cadillac, a large lumber and manufacturing town in Wexford County, northward along the line of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad through Petoskey, Bay View, Wequetonsing, Harbor Point and on to Mackinaw City.

Reports indicate that in the forests the embers and many of the pine trees are still aglow with fire, but that the branches have been wetted with rain and that for the next few days there will be no further spread of the flames. But if a downpour does not set in within that limit the forest fires will break forth again, and no one can estimate how much damage they will do.

All the villages in the rain area are still the scenes of great activity. Men armed with shovels and buckets are making preparations to prevent the near approach of fires, if they break out again. Around each town a girdle 200 feet wide is being burned by the people, so as to check the fires when they reach these points of resistance.

In the district farther west, where ill-fated Wallin and Thompsonville lie, the reports are not encouraging. People whose faces and hands are covered with burns worked all day like beavers at Thompsonville preparing for an expected approach of the flames. However, a telegram from there says the outlook is much more encouraging, although as yet there has been no rain. The direction of the fire seems to be away from the little city.

In the immediate neighborhood the towns of Copepish and Interlochen are threatened by fires which are moving their way. As in the other settlements in the woods, the people there have taken abundant precaution to keep the fire out of the corporate limits, and it is not expected that these places will be burned.

It is reported that the little town of Clary, which was said to have been destroyed, made a hard fight and came out with only a few of its buildings scorched, although many of the people were badly burned.

Several of the people from Wallin, who were taken to Thompsonville on a train are in a very serious condition. One family was found wrapped in blankets and buried in the sand. A little boy was discovered in the bed of a small river, where he had spent the night. It is not expected that any of these victims will die, but they are suffering severely. Telegraphic communication with Traverse City has been restored.

DARING WORK OF RESCUE.

Details Concerning the Burning of Wallin
Are at Hand.

Traverse City, Mich., July 13.—Particulars of the destruction of Wallin, in Benzie County, are at hand. The town was practically owned by the Sullivan Lumber Company, which lost 2,000,000 feet of lumber, a sawmill, coal kilns and two warehouses. The village hotel and twenty-two buildings were wiped out and not a building is left standing. There were no means of fighting the fire when it had surrounded the place. The village began to burn at 11:30 a. m. Thursday. The twenty-two families driven out of their homes had no loophole of escape. Thomas McCluskey of Traverse City, division roadmaster of the Chicago and West Michigan railway, with a gang of fifteen men headed by John Doyle, and a work train was fighting the flames at Interlochen. He started in to save a bridge at Wallin, belonging to the road. Fire was raging on both sides of the track and the air was suffocatingly hot. The men were obliged to lie down flat and push the bar part of the way in and through the flames. Finally the village of Wallin was reached. Not a house was left standing and McCluskey and his crew expected to find all of the inhabitants dead. To the surprise of the rescuing party every inhabitant was found alive.

Four families had buried themselves in the banks of the Betsy river. One woman, whose husband was away from home, buried herself in a deep hole, which she dug in a potato patch. Her three children were with her, the youngest being a babe in arms. After digging the hole the mother had covered herself and the children as best she could with wet blankets. When rescued the top blanket was burning, and in a short time mother and children would have perished. One elderly woman had to be dragged by force from the site of her ruined home. Although no lives were lost, several of the rescued were very badly burned. But for the heroism of Superintendent McCluskey and his men the loss of life would have been large. Passenger trains north and south were delayed, and the passage when made was perilous.

Damaging forest fires are still raging near Thompsonville, Frankfort and around Wallin. South of Frankfort farm buildings and valuable timber is being destroyed. Around Traverse City forest fires are blazing, but no serious damage has been occasioned yet, except to standing timber. Near Solon and Cedar every available man is out fighting the flames to prevent communication with farm buildings and mills. There is a great deal of smoke shrouding this territory. Between here and Thompsonville much valuable timber is being destroyed. Thousands of cords of hemlock bark and posts are burned.

Murders Her Two Little Children.

Sheffield, Ill., July 13.—Mrs. J. Debay, of Annawan, in a crazy fit, killed her two children, aged 3 and 2 years.

HARCOURT MOBBED
BY TORY TOUGHSLIBERAL LEADER ASSAILED
WITH CABBAGE STALKS.

Ex-Lord of the Exchequer Returning From a Political Meeting With His Wife Is Set Upon by a Jeering Crowd—Minister Eustis Not Excused.

London, July 13.—Sir William Harcourt, leader of the liberals in house of commons, was returning from a political meeting, with his wife, today, when he was assaulted with cabbage stalks, rubbish, etc. Neither he nor his wife was injured.

London, July 13.—The Chronicle has an editorial commenting upon United States Ambassador Eustis' explanation of his talk with a representative of the Paris Figaro. The Chronicle says: "If he is really laughing, all we can say is that he is the only person to whom the incident presents itself as a subject for merriment. We need hardly say that it would be impossible for him to admit that he expressed such an opinion and retain his post. Neither the ambassador or the interviewer come well out of the affair."

The Chronicle's editorial concludes that M. Roulier is evidently a gentleman of considerable astuteness and that is more than anyone can say for Mr. Eustis. The Morning has an article in a similar strain.

TELLS ALL THE STORY.

Dead Amos Stillwell's Son Puts Hearne
in a Bad Light.

Hannibal, Mo., July 13.—The taking of depositions in the Hearne-De Young libel suit is developing startling phases. The evidence of R. H. Stillwell, son of the murdered man, Thursday, was a surprise, not only to the public, but to Dr. Hearne, and his attorney, Judge Hendrick. In Stillwell's cross-examination yesterday he said he had been accused of having done all in his power to obstruct investigation. He believed in the innocence of Dr. Hearne and wife until a few weeks, since which time he has changed his mind. Continuing, he said: "I have learned that on one occasion, while my father was in St. Louis, Dr. Hearne was in my father's house one night when he returned home suddenly and unexpectedly; that Dr. Hearne was naked in the house when my father walked in the door; that he had not time to put his clothes on before my father entered the house; that my father passed him in the hallway up-stairs without my father's knowledge, and soon after my father went into his room and locked his door. Dr. Hearne dressed, slipped out of the house, and went home. I have also learned he was cautioned because of his actions touching this matter, and replied that had he met my father in the hall that night he would have shot him dead. He also said he had a revolver with him."

SEARCHING FOR LEWIS.

It Is Believed the Forger Is Hiding in an Ohio Cave.

Urbana, O., July 13.—It is believed here that Forger Z. T. Lewis is still in this county. About twenty miles from here the country is filled with deep caves. It is said Lewis is hiding in one of these and is being supplied with all the luxuries of life. It is presumed he is waiting some favorable opportunity of escaping. More forged bonds are coming in by almost every mail, and the authorities are receiving telegrams almost hourly, asking if certain warrants giving the number and date are genuine. Many of them are not. It cannot be said exactly how much the forgeries amount to, but they are estimated to exceed $300,000. A telegram from Dayton stated that the various banks of that city had been caught for $100,000. As the banks of Dayton are solid institutions, no trouble is feared for them. The general belief that Lewis is still in the county has made over fifty men take to the woods and in the caves in search for him.

Heavy Rain in Texas.

Denison, Tex., July 13.—A deluge of rain visited this section Wednesday night and continued nearly all yesterday. There was a rainfall of nearly nine inches. The water courses have overflowed their banks, doing immense damage to farmers in the lowlands. Bridges are washed out.

SHARP FIGHT WITH INDIANS.

One Red Man Killed and Fifteen Taken Prisoners.

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 13.—An Indian runner came into Fort Washakie, on the Snoshone reservation, Thursday, with reports which were sent by the prosecuting attorney of Fremont County. The report is of a fight between the settlers of Jackson Hole Country, in this State, and a hunting party of Bannock Indians from the Lembis agency in Idaho. One Indian was killed and fifteen captured.

On June 29, a party of seven Bannocks was discovered killing elk in large quantities by some ranchmen. A constable endeavored to arrest them, but they resisted. Twenty settlers went to the aid of the constable, who was keeping on the trail of the Bannocks, who were joined by another hunting party increasing the number of Indians to sixteen. The posse of settlers came together on July 2, and preparations for a determined fight were made. The Indians were followed to the Fall river basin, near the Three Tetons mountains, where they were surrounded and a demand made for their surrender. They showed fight, firing at the scout who had made the demand, and attempting to escape through a gulch. Here they were headed off and one of their number killed. This discouraged them, and they made signs that they were willing to surrender. The entire party of fifteen were captured, and the dead man buried.

It is believed the present fight will end the trouble for the time being, as the settlers are fully able to handle any hunting parties other than that just captured, if there should be any in that region.

BOODLERS INDICTED.

Chicago Grand Jury Holds Two Suspected Aldermen.

Chicago, Ill., July 13.—William Finkler, Republican alderman from the Twenty-sixth Ward, and Alderman Charles Martin, Democratic alderman, from the Sixth Ward, will be arrested on two indictments each, charging them with having solicited money bribes in connection with the ice ordinance passed by the council in April last. The indictments against Alderman Finkler will specify the Washington and Knickerbocker ice companies as the corporations from which he asked money. The indictments against Alderman Martin, name Esch Brothers & Rabe and James P. Smith & Co., as his intended victims. Such is the work accomplished by the special grand jury impaneled to investigate the recent allegations of boodling in the board of termination to indict late yesterday afternoon, after a session of two days and the examination of more than a score of witnesses.

CITIZENS AND BURGLARS FIGHT

Good People of Norfolk Held at Bay by Four Desperadoes.

Norfolk, Conn., July 13.—Four burglars paid this town a visit Thursday and had such a good time that they didn't leave until early next morning and then only because about twenty-five indignant citizens whom they had held at bay for nearly two hours came after them with Winchester rifles. They escaped with their booty, which consisted of but $15 in money and six watches. Someone spread the rumor around to the effect that three of them answered to the description of the post-office burglars, Killoran, Russell and Allen, who recently escaped from the Ludlow street jail in New York City. Chief Wheeler says this is not true; they do not resemble those men in any way.

FARMERS FLEE TO THE HILLS.

Arkansas River Threatening Destruction—
An Unprecedented Rise.

Little Rock, Ark., July 13.—Heavy rains throughout this vicinity have caused an unprecedented rise in the Arkansas river, and news from Fort Smith says the water is nearly up to the danger line at that point. An overflow will utterly ruin thousands of acres of fine cotton and corn along its course and leave hundreds of people homeless. Many farmers have deserted their homes in the bottoms and gone to the hills. The stream is 14 feet 9 inches at this point and is still rising. It has rained in this vicinity and in all fall for two days and indications are that more will fall.

American Missionary Dead.

Oakland, Cal., July 13.—Mrs. Marion A. Cheek has received a telegram announcing the death of her husband in Siam. Cheek went from North Carolina to Siam as a missionary twenty-two years ago and rose in power and wealth until at the time of his death he was one of the most intimate counselors of the Siamese king.

Will Not Accept the Czar.

New York, July 13.—The Herald's correspondent in Rio Janeiro, Brazil, telegraphs that it is stated in official circles there that arbitration of the Amara dispute will be agreed to by Brazil only upon condition that the czar of Russia shall not be selected as arbitrator. It is probable that Queen Victoria will accept that office.

Favor Panama Route.

Colon, Colombia, July 13.—The United States canal commission has completed its inspection of both the Nicaragua and the Panama routes. It is reported here that members of the commission in private conversation have expressed a favorable opinion on the Panama route.

Two Hundred Killed.

Yokohama, July 13.—Seven hundred Chinese attacked Hsinchu, Island of Formosa, on July 10. Two hundred of them were killed and many were captured. On the Japanese side the loss was eleven men.

Escorted by Federal Soldiers.

Keysville, Va., July 13.—The Marabie Polk murder trial has begun at Tunen-burg court house. The prisoners were escorted by military to the court house. There is a large attendance of citizens and the feeling is at a high tension.

CHEAP WALL FALLS
ON TWO WORKMENTRAGEDY CAUSED BY SHODDY
WORK IN PITTSBURG.

Building Collapses and One Man is Fatally Injured While Another Is Hurt Almost As Seriously—Fire in Osceola Causes a Loss of $100,000.

Pittsburg, July 13.—A building on the west side collapsed this morning, one man being fatally injured and another hurt very seriously. A cheaply built wall is held responsible.

Osceola, Ia., July 13.—At 12:45 yesterday morning fire was discovered in the basement of Goldsmith's store, in the Fowler block. Adjoining blocks were soon in flames, and soon a quarter of a block was burned over. The total loss is $104,000. The buildings included the best business district of the town, and the fire was fearfully hot. Nothing is known of its origin, and the insurance will not be more than half. Most of the owners will rebuild as soon as possible.

LEGISLATORS WANT A REST.

Illinois House Adjourns After a Few Bills Are Introduced.

Springfield, Ill., July 13.—The house remained in session barely twenty-five minutes yesterday and adjourned till 5 o'clock Monday. The business of introducing bills was continued, but nothing else of importance was done. Bills were introduced as follows: By Pickrell, to tax express companies, declaring them common carriers, and authorizing them common carriers, and authorizing assessors to give bonds. By O'Harnett, to amend the revenue code, requiring assessors to give bonds. By Kaiser, to tax foreign companies operating sleeping cars, freight and oil tank lines 2 per cent, of their gross earnings in the state, requiring all such concerns to report their gross earnings under oath and providing a penalty of not less than $500 fine for each violation. By Burroughs, to compel the Illinois Central railroad to comply with the act of incorporation regarding the sale of lands. On motion of Mr. Peck the house adjourned until 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Minnesota Silver Men Organize.

St. Paul, Minn., July 13.—Congressman Charles A. Towne, of the Sixth District; Lieutenant Governor Frank A. Day, and other silver Republicans have been in consultation here since Thursday. They decided yesterday not to call a silver convention but to begin a "campaign of education." They will organize silver clubs in the ranks of the Republican party and try to make the organization so perfect that every silverite in the State will be enrolled before the time for the '96 convention.

The Chinese Riots.

Washington, July 13.—The State Department has received from Mr. Denby, the United States minister at Peking, particulars of the recent anti-Christian riots at Ching Tu. The Catholic mission buildings and those of the China Inland and Canadian missions were destroyed. No foreigner was injured, except the Catholic Bishop, and he not seriously. Mr. Denby says he has secured from the Tsung-Li-Yamen, or Chinese Board of Foreign Affairs, an order that the viceroy of Canton pay to the American Presbyterian mission at Yung Kong in Kwang-Tung the sum of $630, due for losses sustained by a riot.

Indiana's Apportionment Battle.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 13.—Senator Turpie has completed the complaint in the apportionment case, and it will be filed with the court in a day or two. It is not given out who are the parties, plaintiff or defendant, or where the suit will be filed, but it is believed Terre Haute has been selected for the legal battle. The court is asked to issue a restraining order to prevent the illegal issuance of writs and to set the act of 1895 aside as unconstitutional and void.

Davis' Shortage at Least $16,000.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 13.—The defalcation of C. D. Davis, manager of the Exchange Bank, of Peru, Iowa, is worse than supposed. Officers of the bank now admit he got away with $16,000 cash, and are not certain, but it may be much greater. Some outsiders say the loss is $23,000. There seems to be no hope of catching him.

No Monetary Conference.

Washington, July 13.—No expectation of an international monetary conference assembling this year is entertained by government officials. Summing up the situation as viewed here, there is in the present condition of feeling among the nations of Europe, no immediate prospect of any concerted action for an enlarged use of silver.

Mrs. Stevenson Dangerously Ill.

Bloomington, Ill., July 13.—During Thursday night Mrs. Vice President Stevenson was taken suddenly and dangerously ill, and two physicians were in attendance upon her for several hours. In the morning she was better, but she was kept under the influence of opiates all day. Her condition is now favorable.

Democratic Split in Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., July 13.—Chairman C. J. Smyth, of the Democratic State Central Committee, has addressed a strong open letter to Secretary Carlisle, declaring the State convention, to which he invited September 5, is bogus, and asking him to come to the regular convention and debate the silver question with Mr. Bryan.

Boy at Canton, Ohio, Shoots His Mother.

Canton, O., July 13.—Late last night John Bailey, the 16-year-old son of Abraham Bailey, became involved in a quarrel with his mother and shot her through the head with a revolver. The chances are against her recovery.

FLYERS ARE COMING ON ALL THE TRAINS.

THE FAST HORSES ARE BEGIN-NING TO ARRIVE.

Special Train of Thirty Six Carloads
Will Roll Into The C. & N. W.
Yards Tomorrow From LaCrosse—
Much Interest in Monday's Match
Event—Gossip for the Horsemen.

Monday afternoon the horses "get the word" and many of the four hundred animals that are entered, are now at the track, while others are coming on nearly every train. A special train is expected to arrive tomorrow morning via the Northwestern road, consisting of thirty-six cars and coming direct from the La Crosse meeting. The special will bring some of the best horses in this country. Of course the most of the interest centers in the match race between Joe Patchen 2:04 and Strathberry 2:06. Patchen has paced an exhibition mile in 2:04 this season, while Strathberry has won the half mile championship. In addition to this, the Roseberry horse paced a winning heat at Davenport yesterday in 2:06, despite the fact that he was his "off day" and he was acting badly.

Chances are Even.
In case Strathberry is on edge the big black son of Patchen Wilkes will have to go the race of his life. No more noteworthy contest is scheduled this season than this one and it cost the Driving Park association a goodly sum to get the attraction.

Monday's program is as follows:
Two year old trotting class for colts that have never started, purse $500—thirty-nine entries.
2:22 class pacing, purse, $600—fifteen entries.

Match race between Joe Patchen (2:04) and Strathberry (2:06).
The horses will be called early as the program is so long that the utmost dispatch must be used to get the races off.

Fidel Breaks a Record.
Fidel, the bay pacer, who will start in the 2:10 pacing class here on Wednesday, lowered his record five seconds at Davenport, Iowa, yesterday and paced the fastest mile yet paced in a race this season. Strathberry, the bay pacer who will race Joe Patchen on Monday, won the first heat after a terrific finish in 2:06, but after that he acted badly and after getting fourth place twice was distanced. Fidel's performance in Davenport will make him an object of interest when he faces the Janesville starting judge. None of the horses that he will meet here were in the Davenport race.

King Holiday, a horse entered in the 2:19 class here, won the 2:22 class purse at Davenport trotting in 2:16, defeating a large field. Among the contestants were Jennie Tombs, owned by William Stone of Clinton. Jennie was unplaced, her best position being fifth.

Rock County Horse Wins.
In the 2:30 trotting class, Abnet, a horse owned by Henry Cheesman, also of Clinton, and driven by Joe Bassett, who is well known in Janesville as the owner of Joe Bassett, Jr., the phenomenal horse that died so suddenly at Lake Geneva, won the 2:30 class purse in straight heats, the time being 2:16, rather fast for 2:30 horses. Black Hal was in second place each heat, and the third heat was declared off, and a new driver put up, as it was said that the Hal horse was not being driven to win. However, the heat resulted in no change, so Abnet won the cash. Abnet is a three year old by Ambassador, and broke the track record on Clinton's half mile course on July Fourth, by trotting a heat in 2:18 and a fraction. She is entered in the 2:28 class here.

2:30 Pacers Go Very Fast.
Rachael, a horse not entered here, won the 2:30 pacing class at LaCrosse yesterday going the miles in 2:11, 2:11 and 2:11. Billie Steinman, who will pace in the same class here won the first heat in 2:13. The other contestants that will be seen here were Norwood, Ithuriel, Redleaf, Nehoula, Belle Ore, Iowa Sphinx, Happy Jr., Redstratn, Ashbarton, and Bar Me Not who finished in the order named.

Mediumwood, who is entered in the three year old trotting class here, and driven by "Tom" Dunbar, made Miss Kate of the Salisbury stable, go in 2:22 at LaCrosse and won two heats out of the five. Comalito and Ax-tellite also started.

Kittie B, who entered in the 2:26 trotting class here won the purse in the 2:29 class at Mendota, Ill., yesterday trotting in 2:22.

LESS LEAF THIS YEAR BY 1000 ACRES

TOBACCO IN ROCK THIS YEAR
A SMALLER CROP.

Growers Have Cut Their Fields
Down To An Aggregate Of Less
Than 4500 Acres—Assessors' Figures Likely To Be too Liberal
Even Then.

There is a reduction of nearly 1,000 acres in Rock county tobacco fields this year. The figures given by assessors are in Clerk McIntyre's hands, and this is the showing compared with:

	Aer's	Aer's	Pounds
Avon.....	1895.	1894.	1894.
Beloit.....	35	103	35,977
Center.....	2	5	9,000
Clinton.....	640	746	778,650
Fulton.....	23	43	59,300
Harmony.....	588	652	705,300
Johnstown.....	368	501	368,000
La Prairie.....	244	346	312,700
Lincoln.....	734	149	95,603
Maquoketa.....	218	385	341,000
Milton.....	45	5	10,500
Newark.....	83	152	45,000
Plymouth.....	1694	137	131,670
Porter.....	217	308	289,266
Rock.....	490	457	252,000
Spring Valley.....	271	405	272,000
Turtle.....	346	388	389,500
Union.....	14	25	15,500
Clinton V.....	59	217	129,600

Beloit.....	84	13	10,800
Edgerton.....	19	18	16,500
Janesville.....	47	62	34,400
Total.....	292	315	291,800

Total..... 4,382 1/2 5,445 1/2 4,851,773

According to these figures the reduction in acreage since 1894 is 20 per cent. A year ago the same returns showed a falling off of nearly 40 per cent. Editor Coon, of the Tobacco Reporter, in commenting on the figures suggests that it should be remembered these statistics are taken during the month of May before the crop is planted, and indicate the areas intended for tobacco rather than the actual fields set. If the season is a favorable one the figures are generally fairly accurate, but in a dry season or one where there is a shortage of plants, like the present year, the reports show rather more tobacco than is actually growing. It is quite probable these figures ought to be discounted 10 to 15 per cent this season from the assessor's report. Only two towns in the county but what show a falling off of acreage over last season.

WHITE-LIGHT CLUB IS SAVED.

No Compulsory Keeley Cure Is Now Probable—Meeting Held Today.

Thirsty but Lappy were the White Light club this morning. They met in the shade of a box car to endorse the action of the Milwaukee county board. A blow at the welfare of the club had failed. When the Milwaukee board decided compulsory terms of Keeley treatment to be illegal it cheered the hearts of every true White-Lighter.

"Some guys must 'ink it don't cost nuthin to educate a 'lirt," said the president solemnly. After we rush de cant twenty years or so, until paint-shop white-light wid a little artesian in it tastes better than milk to a kid wha do they want to do? Why they sez the first time any of us gits ciled up so we runs a little too free we goes over the road to Waukesha and gits squirmed wid bichloride."

"Wha' d'ye think of that, anyway," broke in the secretary with awful scorn.

"See where we land," explained the high custodian of the corkscrew. "When we gits back from Waukesha we has to begin all over again. It's just as if we never got our palates tanned. We have to begin on soft drinks and work up. Think of not being able to swallow nothing stronger dan railroad whiskey."

But the secretary was writhing in a fit at the thought. After four fingers of restorative had been administered he was able to sit up and write with chalk on the side of a box car bound for Milwaukee a set of resolutions addressed to the Milwaukee supervisors.

"The White Light club of Janesville is wid you in your noble work, and will do all it kin to help you preserve the thirst of the poor working-man untarnished."

So read the principal clause of the resolutions. As the car was switched into the Milwaukee day freight the club marched beside it and each member put his mark under the secretary's name.

NEW TEACHERS ARE ENGAGED.

The School Board Fill Vacancies In The City Corps.

Janesville high school graduates were not all "turned down" by the board of education last evening. There were seven vacancies to be filled and the board selected two from Janesville's high school, giving one each to Monroe, Eau Claire, Beloit, Edgerton and Milton. It was a very short session, President Goldin presiding, with commissioners Clemmons, Anderson, Shearer and Wiesend present. The report of the committee on teachers was adopted, placing the new teachers as follows:

Miss Stella Bennett of Monroe, seventh grade, Jefferson school, at a salary of $40 per month.

Miss Irene VanVranken, Janesville, fifth and sixth grades, Grant, at $35 per month.

Miss Agnes Joyce, Janesville, fourth grade, Washington, at $35 per month.

Miss Gertrude Spencer of Edgerton, fourth grade, Adams, at $35 per month.

Miss Wilder of Eau Claire, third grade, Webster, at $35 per month.

Miss Grace Miller of Milton, third grade Douglas, at $35 per month.

Miss Dugan of Beloit, third grade, Lincoln, at $35 per month.

Miss Alice Whiffin, principal of Grant school.

The following transfers were made: Miss Sarah Hickey from the third grade of the Webster school to the third grade of the Jefferson; vice Miss McNeill declined; Miss Lou Carpenter from the sixth grade Jefferson school to the sixth grade Washington school; Miss Cora Spear from the sixth grade Washington school to the sixth grade Jefferson, vice Miss Carpenter, transferred.

The clerk was directed to notify the parties of their appointments. A number of applications were received from graduates of the high school and placed on file. The building committee was instructed to inspect the high school grades, and there being no other business the board adjourned.

Dr. Ego Lectured Last Night to a Large Audience on Corn Exchange.

This wonderful man keeps up his record and is daily curing the sick and crippled at the Park hotel. Hundreds are flocking to consult him and scores are being cured daily. Never before in the history of Janesville has such a wonderful man been in the city. He certainly performs miracles.

Dr. Ego begins where others leave off and no wonder he cures the so-called incurables so easy, for he has brought an entirely new system of medicine from Europe. His connection and association with Count Maeti of Paris, France, and Sir Morrill McKenzie of England, has enabled him to do his wonderful work. The doctor will speak again this evening at Corn Exchange. Go hear him.

The doctor's office is located in the Park hotel, hours from 9 to 5. Consultation and examination free at any time.

Ye Legends.

The devil tempted Faust, and he unfortunately fell;
Faust tempted Marguerite, and she ran off the line as well.
But Marguerite at last became
An angel bright and fair;
While Faust, though tempted just the same—
Was hustled off elsewhere;
And yet New Women make complaint
With all the force they can,
Because the laws for woman ain't
The same as those for man!

THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES
WRITE THEIR EXPERIENCES.

Nothing Occured to Mar the Pleasant-of the Trip—The Train Service
Good and the Arrival Punctual—
Assigned to Rooms Very Ex-pediently.

Janesville Endeavorers are enjoying their Boston trip hugely. They arrived on time to the minute, were assigned to rooms without ten minutes delay and have had nothing but pleasant experiences. Frank Spoon writes that the train service was all the Bower City folks could possibly desire. Two prayer meetings were held on the train, and the excursionists from different cities got very well acquainted. Boston was reached at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. "We were the first to reach Boston of all the trains leaving Chicago the same night," writes Spoon, "so fast was our run that many were not up early enough (4 a. m.) to see all the Green Mountains and Lake Champlain, with the Aderondacks in the distance."

"We that went to the hotel were met by one of the hotel men and assigned to our rooms on the train and we were met at the hotel doors by porters who took us directly to our rooms. Those who went to private families were assigned at the church almost as quickly."

"Nearly every business house in the city shows the Endeavor's colors and the C. E. design. One house, in particular, an eight story dry goods store, has the entire front covered with incandescent lights that flash red, then white, and on the main entrance in the same kind of lights, is 'C. E. Welcome.' The whole city seems to be given over to the delegates and their entertainment."

Full off with starch and gloss serene,
The linen collar starts the morn;
Full off at noon it is seen
All wilted, wrinkled and forlorn.

That's what you must expect of such a collar; it's the linen of it. The stand-up collars won't stand up, and the turn-down collars will wilt down. The easy, cheap, and pleasant way out of this is to wear "CELLULOID" COLLARS AND CUFFS. These goods are made by covering linen collars or cuffs on both sides with "CELLULOID," thus making them strong and durable, and waterproof, not affected by heat or moisture. There are no other waterproof goods made this way, consequently none that can wear so well. When soiled simply wipe them off with a wet cloth. Every piece of the genuine is stamped like this:

Insist upon goods so marked if you expect full satisfaction, and if your dealer does not keep them, send direct to us enclosing amount and we will mail sample. State size and whether a stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair.

Property is Cheap

In Janesville, if one makes a judicious selection. A good, central location is an indispensable element in a good purchase. While the demand for property is limited, those MUST sell are compelled to concede much to the buyer. The following are illustrations, viz:

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

This Date in History—July 13.

1785—Stephen Hopkins, "signer" for Rhode Island, died in Providence; born 1707.

1793—Marat, the terrorist, was assassinated by Charlotte Corday. Marat was one of the most sanguinary of the Jacobins. A creature of no personal presence, he swayed the masses by his energy and mastered his colleagues by his fiery passion. With Danton and Robespierre he planned the destruction of the Girondists, and when cut down by the heroine was preparing a list of victims to be sacrificed to the common weal. His death, however, only called for greater sacrifices.

1859—Rufus Choate, lawyer and orator, died at Halifax; born 1790.

1890—General John Charles Fremont, explorer, soldier and Republican presidential candidate in 1856, died in New York; born in Georgia 1813.

1841—George H. Graham, founder of Graham's Magazine, died at Orange, N. J.

SQUASH-HOLLOW STREET MAKING.

Aldermen think the only way to keep the brow of East Milwaukee street from washing down to the bridge is to pave it. Block paving and broken stone are cheap enough so one or the other might be applied in many parts of town but aldermen are forced by public sentiment to keep steepest improvements down to a "gravel and black loam basis." Once a year gravel is spread on the streets and then as it works down it is dug from the gutter and carted off. This plan is in high favor in Squash Hollow. Janesville ought to outgrow her village methods before long, however, and learn to build streets in permanent fashion. It would be cheaper in the long run and the advantages would be incalculable.

A CHANCE FOR REFORMS.

Perhaps the Tories in the parliament now being elected will pass a few reforms. The conditions several times in the past forced them to do this. Every measure they pass in the commons is reasonably sure to receive the sanction of the house of lords. Thus that chamber may make itself "solid" with the people for a time and postpone the day of wrath. The untried British democracy, which is an important element of the liberal party, will make no peace with the lords, but under the new dispensation it will not be able to do anything.

Failure of the tobacco crop no longer means ruin on Rock county farms and stagnation in the towns. This year 4500 acres is an outside estimate of the amount of tobacco planted, and with smaller quantity should come better quality. The acreage has been cut down so that while each farmer has tobacco enough to make him a handsome profit if things turn out right, he will not be crippled if chinch bugs, or worms or frost or rust or shed burn or pole rot or fat stem or white vein run his leaf. Reliance is placed on other staples and the money made on tobacco is counted so much clear gain. When raised in this way tobacco is less fruitful of disappointments. Any other course seems to be hopeless.

It is curious to note that the English parliament is quarreling about a statue to Cromwell while the people of a Northern city are paying respectful tribute to the memory of the Confederate dead. It is true that Americans have a magnanimous way of settling their differences. They never behead their rulers literally, nor dig up the remains of one to hang them in chains, as was done in the case of Cromwell.

As significant as anything else in trade conditions is the exceptionally favorable outlook for business in the fall. As long as a republican house of representatives insures against tariff tinkering and free coinage nonsense the commercial interests of the country, the workingmen and the farmers all feel safe.

The fact that a republican majority now controls congress is lifting the country out of the slough of despond in which it was plunged by democrats, but for many years it will continue to retain an unpleasant reminder of the period in the shape of an addition of $150,000,000 to the public debt.

Before long Janesville must face the sewerage question. Private sewers are honey-combing the business portion of town and evil results will follow. Moreover, there can be nothing done in the way of systematic paving as long as streets are still to be torn up for the laying of pipe.

Coal retails for $4.75 a ton in Milwaukee this week. That ought to make considerable difference in Janesville.

Drake, the republican candidate for governor of Iowa, is a strong man and will draw out the full vote of the party. From near the beginning of the canvass for the nomination he was the favorite. This consideration, of course, will help him at the polls.

Governor Altgeld calls ex-Speaker Crafts "a boddler" and ex-Speaker Crafts calls Governor Altgeld "a conscienceless demagogue." All over the country democrats are struggling to make their opinions coincide with public sentiment.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES

Forty Years a Preacher.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Russell Booth, who was elected moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly at its one hundred and seventh general session in Pittsburg, is pastor of Rutgers Riverside church, New York city. He was born in New York in 1830 and is the oldest minister of his denomination in that city at the present time. He was graduated from Williams college in 1849 and later from Auburn Theological seminary. Dr. Booth does not preach politics or sociology, but the gospel, pure and simple. He believes the Bible in its entirety and was one of Dr. Briggs' most determined opponents.

Ex-Minister Haselton.

Hon. Seneca Haselton, who was recently removed from the office of United States minister to Venezuela on charges preferred by Admiral Meade, is a well known lawyer of Burlington, Vt., and is about 45 years of age. He is dark haired, dark eyed and dark complexioned and is said to look more like a Spaniard than an American. He was appointed minister to Venezuela at the instance of Bradley B. Smalley, collector of internal revenue, Democratic national committeeman and warm friend of President Cleveland, on May 11, 1894, and, according to Mr. Smalley, was recommended for the position by every prominent man in Vermont irrespective of party.

New Civil Service Commissioners.

One of the new national civil service commissioners was a private soldier at the age of 17 and the other was a colonel at 19. The former, Major John B. Harlow, has won considerable reputation as postmaster of St. Louis and father of the trolley car mail service. He was born in New York state in 1844. When a mere schoolboy of 17, he dropped his books, enlisted in Colonel Richard Oglesby's Eighth Illinois volunteers and went to the front. In 1866 he was appointed to a position in the Illinois railway mail service, was so efficient that WILLIAM G. RICE. JOHN B. HARLOW. he was rapidly promoted, and in 1890 President Harrison appointed him postmaster of St. Louis.

William G. Rice of New York, the other new member of the commission, was born in Albany Dec. 23, 1856. When young Rice was but 19 years of age, Governor Samuel J. Tilden appointed him assistant paymaster general of the national guard of the state of New York, with the rank of colonel. This office the young man retained during the administrations of Governors Robinson, Cornell and Cleveland, and was private secretary to Governor Hill during his three terms at Albany.

"Oh, yes, I remember him and a meaner cuss I never knew," replied the host, grimly.

"Jim's dead now; don't be too hard on him. He had good streaks and he was awful lucky in some ways."

"Oh, he was!"

"Why, just five minutes before he died a man came in and paid him ten dollars he owed him. He died holding the bill tight in his hand."

"Ah," responded the host, handing back the receipted bill, "then he had money to burn!"

Grammarless, But It Worked.

When the train stopped, a man with whiskers got aboard and noticed, with the ready eye of a traveler, that every seat was filled.

"Man run over just now," he casually remarked, as he put his valise down by the water tank.

The boy with arab-colored hair sprang to his feet, reached them, and dashed through the car door. The man with the whiskers slipped into the vacated seat.

"The man run over the tracks, just ahead of the engine," he explained. "It didn't hurt him any."—N. Y. Recorder.

Frigid.

"Was it cool where you spent your vacation?"

"Cool? I should say it was. I went away for a couple of days, and returned unexpectedly. I found the old farmer wearing one of my shirts and my straw hat; his two sons away at a picnic in my best clothes; and his wife straining jelly through my white flannel coat; and all they said was: 'We hain't been expectin' ye hum so soon.' It was the coolest family I ever struck."—Life.

A CAR BROKEN OPEN BY BUTTER THIEVES

DOOR FORCED AS THE TRAIN STOOD IN THE YARD

Shipment Came From Ex-Governor Hoard's Fort Atkinson Creamery And the Police Think They Will Get the Robbers—Bridge Plank Carted Away in the Night.

When Engineer Charles Sherwood of the C. & N. W. noticed two big tubs of butter hidden behind a flat car at the St. Paul's company's sheds this morning, he laid the first stone for some one's pathway to Waupun, Wis.

It was 6:40 o'clock this morning that Engineer Sherwood opened up the throttle of his engine and started for Belvidere. As he whizzed by the St. Paul sheds, he noticed the two tubs which had been pushed back, as the thieves probably thought, out of sight. When the train reached Afton he telegraphed back that he had seen the butter and that to his idea it had been stolen. The office employees of the company went and got the tubs and took them to Agent Ranous' residence and the police were notified. Search soon revealed the fact that the tubs had been stolen from a refrigerator car consigned to Chicago parties and shipped by ex-Governor Hoard of Fort Atkinson.

"I think that the car was robbed between 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 9 o'clock last night" said Chief Acheson. "In all probability the robbers were frightened away before they got the plunder hidden or else they were drunk and forgot where they put the butter. I think we will get them."

Pile of Planks Disappear

"Not stolen, but taken" was the text from which Chief Acheson preached a sermon this morning, and although his audience was not large, it was thoroughly appreciative. The chief's "big talk" was the sudden disappearance of a big pile of old plank that were removed from the Jackson street bridge. When Inspector Butler, who had been looking out for the city's interest during the repairs, went home last night, he said that a pile of old planks, containing 35,000 feet of lumber cast a grateful shade near that structure. When he returned to work this morning the pile was gone. Chief Acheson was at once notified and begun casting his eye about. He soon discovered various piles of the ancient lumber scattered about the Fourth ward, and demanded explanation of the owner of the premises.

"Why," was the universal expression, "we supposed that the bridge was built by private parties and given to the city, and that therefore we had the right to take the plank. It was first come, first served, and there was a great scramble to get first choice." The chief explained that the city owned the plank, and that unless they were returned forthwith, Mayor Baines would cause some arrests to be made, so the plank went back.

ARROW CYCLERS PLAN A BIG MEET

The Arrow Cycling club are much encouraged over the success of their late race meets and are now figuring on one of the large L. A. W. state meets which will probably be held here the first part of next month. Secretary Pierce has received a letter from I. F. Strauss, chairman of the state racing board, stating that the board had decided to arrange a state circuit of race meets, to commence July 12 and continue till September 15, the meetings to consist of one, two or more days, but none will be allowed to conflict. A number of merchants offered large prizes and plans will soon be completed for the largest bicycle meeting ever held in southern Wisconsin.

FIX UP A BAD PIECE OF STREET

Aldermen Iman and Burnham Have Their Eye on a Rough Spot.

Aldermen Burnham, of the Second ward, and Alderman Iman, of the Third, are planning to improve the roadway at the intersection of East Milwaukee street with Milton and Milwaukee avenues on East street. A small portion of the roadway at this point is in very bad condition, partly owing to the fact that the car track forms a "Y," which materially narrows the streets. The aldermen have not yet fully decided just what they will do, but it is more than probable that they will pave a small portion, covering the square of the street intersections and crosswalks.

SAVED BY A BOX BUT BADLY HURT.

MRS. T. J. BIRMINGHAM PAINTFULLY INJURED.

Although Her Wicked Fall Down the Cellar Stairs Was Broken by a Pine Packing Case, She Had Her Jaw Fractured and Her Head Cut Severely.

A small pine box prevented what might have been a fatal accident at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Birmingham this morning. While descending the cellar stairs at her home, 419 South Jackson street, Mrs. Birmingham accidentally lost her footing at the top, and fell the entire length of the flight, striking her head with great force upon a box that was standing on the cellar floor. The noise attracted those in the house who came to her assistance, and at once sent for a physician. Dr. G. W. Chittenden was soon at her bedside when it was found a long gash was cut in her face, which required six stitches. In addition two of her teeth were knocked out, and the jaw bone broken. The doctor says that if the box had not been at the bottom of those stairs, falling the way Mrs. Birmingham did, she would probably have had her brains dashed out against the unyielding stone wall. Although Mrs. Birmingham received very painful injuries, she was resting comfortably this afternoon.

Dr. C. L. Clark says John Doyle, the man who was run down by a runaway horse yesterday, cannot live. Mr. Doyle is well advanced in years and failing, so that it is now said he cannot survive many hours. He is at William Canary's hotel on Pleasant street, and it is not known whether or not he has any near relatives.

The remains of Frank Hagerty were buried in Mount Olivet this morning. There was a large attendance at the funeral, which was held in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock this morning. Rev. The pall bearers were Con. McGinley, Burt Holleran, John McGinley, Ed. Abbott, Patrick Holleran and James Dugan.

Mrs. George W. Britain.

The remains of Mrs. George Britain of Chicago, will arrive in the city at 5:45 p. m., this evening, and will be taken directly from the cars directly to Oak Hill for interment. President Volney Atwood, of the Oak Hill cemetery association, received a dispatch last evening from Chicago, asking him to make the necessary arrangements for the interment. No other particulars were received.

NEW FASHIONS.

Capes to Be Made Plainer—Pipings of Contrasting Colors.

The cape is the popular garment, and while it continues full it is less so than the models shown at the beginning of the season. The short cape is a composite affair, in which every rich and expensive material is mingled in a fashion that sometimes approaches the absurd. Plain elegance is always more desirable than a mixture of elaborateness that suggests an effort to see how much expensive stuff can be put into one garment. The fashion of mingling a great number of materials in one piece of apparel has gone as far as is desirable, and it is to be hoped that autumn will inaugurate some made less like patchwork. Some of the new capes are made in narrow sections that continue up to the neck to form the collar, the entire length, including the collar, being in one piece.

Cordings and pipings of contrasting color are again worn, with other meaningless revivals of a tasteless age. They are exceedingly inartistic, but just at present they are smart. There is nothing attractive to a cultivated taste in dress designed on the principle of a geometrical problem, but it is not taste of the highest cultivation that sets the fashion.

Another fashion long since abandoned, but just now reviving, is white stockings with colored or black horizontal stripes. These, unlike the vertical striped hose, which are most becoming, have a hideous effect on foot and ankle, and it is to be hoped will soon retire into the obscurity they merit.

Black hose and black shoes are the most becoming footgear that can be worn, which probably is the reason that black stockings have remained in fashion as long as they have. Even universal becomingness does not give a fashion immortality, however, and no doubt we shall sooner or later see a revival of the hideous style of white stockings for all occasions.

The illustration shows a pretty outfit of door costume. The bodice skirt is of violet crepon bordered about the foot with three folds of crepon. The blouse corsage is of mauve glaze taffeta, the back being in one piece laid in plaits and the front having one wide double plait with a small plait on each side of it. A black satin ribbon simulating a corset passes under the plaits and forms a bow on the bosom. The sleeves are bias. A high collar of black satin is trimmed with choux of black gauze. The hat is green straw trimmed with mauve poppies and black plumes.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Straws of Every Color—The Art of Hair-dressing.

Bonnets show no new departure except perhaps in the adjustment of the trimming, which is broad across the front. Very large rosette arrangements of the choux genre are extremely smart, one at each side of the front. All sorts of colored straws are worn for both hats and bonnets and in all kinds of plaits, open and crinkled.

Hats are of moderate dimensions this season, but overlaid with trophies of flowers. Some of the latest are made entirely of foliage.

No one style of coiffure now prevails, which shows that fashion has a rational interval once in awhile and does not insist that nine women shall render themselves hideous by adopting a certain fashion of hairdressing which is becoming only to the tenth. It is now entirely permissible to dress the hair to suit the type of face, and the best hairdressers are extremely careful in this respect.

STRAW HAT.

Trimnings and sleeves of white gauze on flowered or broche silk gowns are liked in Paris. The fashion of hats covered with bluet continues, although blue is not a generally becoming color. Silk bodices covered with black gauze are still worn and are among the most satisfactory corsets. Large ruffles of black gauze with lace cravat ends are a novelty and are worn with light gowns with great effect.

The very prettiest summer hats are those of pure white straw, trimmed with black plumes, gauze and clusters of white roses. Collars, cuffs and long front folds for the bodice come in sets and are adjustable. They are of batiste, tucked and trimmed with lace, and may be all white or white embroidered with colors. Tinted plique is also used for them, in blue, straw or mauve or white printed with flowers.

The hat shown in the illustration is of black straw trimmed with rose and black lace ribbon, which forms coques after passing across the front of the crown. A black plume curls forward over the brim on each side, and three plumes stand erect at the back. Coques of ribbon are placed over the hair behind, retained by a large buckle.

I was also run down very much. There was a decided change after using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took a few bottles and was soon cured. Later my husband had a lump behind his ear; he tried your medicine, and one bottle cured him. I shall always recommend your medicines."

A CHILD OF EARTH.

I come to claim my heritage,
O Mother Earth, of thee,
Thou mother strong from toil and age
And rich in majesty!
I claim those far-off cedar boughs,
The tresses on thy mountain brows.
For me against the evening sky
Those somber trees rise dim and high,
Yet think not by my hand shall fall
A single trunk among them all.

I claim this quiet, lonely lake,
Some Titan's only tear,
Where crushing down the fern and brake
Stoops low the drinking deer.
Yet never shall my noisy car
Push out from its untrodden shore;
Here, hidden close in nature's eye,
Serene, unhaunted, let it lie.
Here may the heron plash and scream,
And here the redbird's plumage gleam.

I claim the forest and the gales
That swing their ponderous scythes,
The sea when flecked with swanlike sails,
Or when it foams and writhes.
I claim the heather purpled hills,
The silvery tongues of snow-fed rills—
All, all are mine. I need but roll
The curtain from before my soul,
More richly blest, that all may share
My sacred rights in earth and air.
—Curtis May in Youth's Companion.

A TALE OF ALSACE.

The carriage was going at a terrific pace. The horses, unusually excited by the white wine that had been poured over their oats, dashed through the air which whistled past their ears. Their hoofs resounded loudly on the hard frozen road. The two carriage lanterns shone in the night like the glowing eyes of some huge, prehistoric monster.

This mad, furious course in the darkness had something strange about it, something mysterious, sinister, and all the more so, perhaps, that it was taking place in the annie terrible—the terrible year when the Germans were in Alsace.

The carriage, like a vessel in distress on a raging sea, oscillated from left to right and from right to left.

When the vehicle, which had been flying down the slopes of Ottrot, raced through the village, passing like an express train the houses with their little low roofs on which the moon cast a silvery light, the good women, suddenly frightened, made the sign of the cross with a trembling of the knees and a whispered prayer.

"Mon Dieu! What is going to become of us?"

The children crouched, terrified, against the knee of the older persons. Everywhere there was a sense of depression and evil presentiment and—a characteristic sign of general terror—the fires in the huge, white stoves were allowed to sink low and go out, for no one thought of keeping them alive.

The fact was the Prussians for several weeks past had been cruelly ravaging the country.

The flying carriage contained some German officers who were the bearers of secret orders to S.

"Faster, faster," they cried, whipping up the poor horses, which were already breathing fire and smoke out of their nostrils. The wretched driver, terrified, obeyed mechanically.

"Tonnerre!" he growled, "my horses will die when they reach their stable if they do not break their necks going round one of these steep curves!" And the strokes of the whip redoubled, and the dizzy course became still more reckless.

The trees seemed to fly past. Nature herself protested against the wild, headlong career, for at this moment the moon hid her face behind a cloud, as if she did not wish to be a witness to the scene. And still they flew onward.

That afternoon the enemy had taken possession of the village of Ottrot, and, as their custom was, had installed themselves in the people's houses.

Four superior officers were domiciled with the mayor. They sat there in the middle of his best drawing room, talking loudly in their guttural jargon and smoking their long pipes of porcelain while they dried their boots at the hot fire blazing in the grate.

Their unwilling host, a tall old man, with a white beard, served them with drinks as graciously as he could. His eye passed sadly from one to the other, his venerable head shaking melancholy, as if to say: "It is the right of the strongest. What can one do against a hundred?"

Perhaps his mind was dwelling on the past. Perhaps he was looking forward to revenge, thinking, it may be, of the time when his countrymen, by one of those spontaneous movements that the French alone are capable of, would be victorious and offering mercy to these very officers, his guests.

He raised his white head in a gesture of defiance, and his eyes shot fire. He seemed to have grown 20 years younger, and this transfiguration was evidence of his tremendous internal agitation.

He was recalled to the present by a gentle knock at the door, and almost immediately afterward he saw in the arch the tall, powerful frame of Lux, who was the foreman of the mayor's servants and a modern Hercules. He was agile as a deer and strong as an ox and could break a son between his fingers as he would break an eggshell.

The neck of a bull rose out of a flannel shirt, carelessly fastened across the throat by a cotton necktie. He was a man terrible in anger, but in repose gentle as a lamb and as docile.

"What is the matter?"

"There is this matter: Another officer wants to quarter himself upon us. Shall I strangle him?"

These words coming from such lips made one shudder.

"Now, my old Lux, keep calm. That could do no good and would only bring upon us. Let him in. He probably wishes to speak with his colleagues."

Lux did as his master told him, much against his inclination. It would have been such a huge amount of pleasure to twist one of those German necks with his great sinewy fingers.

The new arrival burst into the drawing room. The four Prussian officers uttered cries of surprise.

They rose at once in a body and saluted with great respect the stranger who had come to disturb their peace.

"Be seated and let us talk," said the new arrival in German, and in a voice of command.

"You will get out at once," he said, "and take this sealed message to the Prince of X—, at S—!" And he drew out of the pocket of his long military cloak, white with snow, a large, white envelope and handed it to one of the officers.

"Go, all four of you, and place yourselves at the disposition of the prince. Further orders will be given to each of you later. You must get horses and carriage and start at once! Is it understood? Then hasten!"

Then, turning to the host, he said in French:

"Please accommodate these gentlemen with a carriage and two fresh horses. General's orders!"

Lux, who had remained standing at the door during this scene, anticipated his master's reply.

"It is well, monsieur l'officier, you shall be accommodated as you desire!"

He spoke in a peculiar tone of voice. Only his master, however, noticed it.

A mad thought had been born in his brain, something superhuman, preposterous. Any one who could have read it in his mind would have been shocked, terror-stricken.

While a farmhand harnessed the horses to the carriage Lux put a saddle on Barka, an Arab horse, a faithful animal, which he loved and cared for with his own hands.

He spoke to it as he spoke to a friend, and the noble creature seemed to understand. When Lux mounted into the saddle, he was trembling with joy.

A mysterious dialogue seemed to commence between the man and the horse, which suddenly, sending the sparks flying from beneath its four feet, vanished into the darkness like a phantom.

Barka, like some great mythological creature with wings, devoured space. Her fine, nervous legs hardly seemed to touch the earth, and Lux kept her going at her utmost speed.

At length they stopped. Barka was white with foam, and Lux covered her with his cloak. He did not feel the cold, for the awful thought in his mind kept his whole body warm and tingling.

"It is yonder," he said to himself in a deep voiced growl. "It is there that they are to perish."

At this point the road made a sudden turn, and apparently came to an abrupt end. As a matter of fact, however, it did not terminate, but continued in a steep, terrible slope. On the right was a dark, mysterious wood, and on the left a deep and dizzy precipice, such as are often seen by mountain roads.

Children were afraid to pass by. The gulf of death, as it was called, had its legend. The old folk said that it was within its gloomy depths the monsters lived that ravaged the country at night.

"If my calculations are correct," said Lux in a low voice, "they will be here in ten minutes."

He tied Barka to a tree stem on the border of the wood, and a strange smile passed over his lips.

An extraordinary scene might then have been witnessed. Lux knelt down in this solitary, accursed, haunted spot in the nighttime and turned his face to heaven. It looked like a sinner asking forgiveness for his sins rather than one planning an awful deed for the satisfaction of his rage and hate.

Not a sound was to be heard in the surrounding country. All seemed dead or asleep, only a murmur of the wind in the pines.

Lux placed his ear to the ground, as the Indians do in the wilderness, and, hearing a faint sound of hoofs in the distance striking the hard road, he raised his head. His face was transfigured.

"At last I shall have my vengeance!" he hissed.

Then he crouched down on his hands and knees and waited.

A few seconds more and the carriage with the four German officers would be upon him.

He uttered a terrible cry of "Vive la France!" to which Barka replied with a joyful neigh.

The carriage, which had been approaching at tremendous speed, came to a sudden stop, as if arrested by an irresistible force, and remained there standing.

Lux had not moved an inch. He was not a man, but a stone wall.

He made a last and supreme effort and raised himself upon his legs. Then with a terrific heave he pushed over the dizzy brink horses, carriage and men.

An awful noise rose on the still night air, a sound of crashing, cursing and horses screaming. Then there was a silence, heavy, complete, tragic!

The man rose and peered over the edge into the black gulf of death. He saw nothing. Then he sprang into his saddle and disappeared like a shadow into the night.—From the French.

When Two Generals Kissed.

The two allied commanders in chief, Simpson and Pelissier, were men of very different character and appearance. The one was a tall, thin Scotchman; the other a short, stout, thickset Norman.

The first time they met after the capture of the city, Pelissier rushed up to the English general and embraced him with great fervor, having almost to climb up to reach his cheek. The English staff were amused at this demonstration and said to Simpson, "Why, General, Pelissier kissed you!" And his reply, with a strong national dialect, was, "Well, it was a great occasion, and I could not resist him."

"Recollections of a Military Life," by General Sir John Adye.

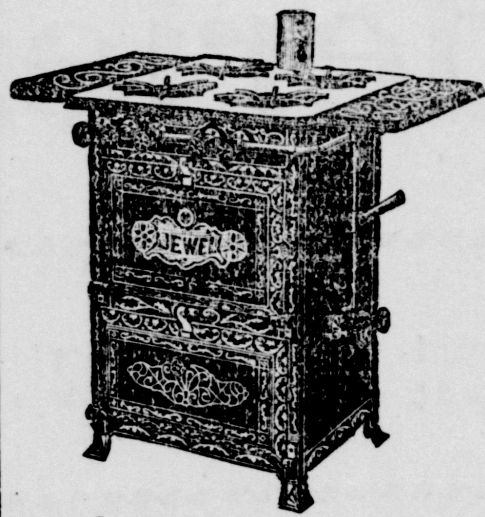

Bewitching.

"Dear me," he petulantly exclaimed, "what a dreadfully muddy crossing, and there's a horrid woman watching me too! Well, I just don't care."

With a contemptuous toss of his head the new man raised his garment to the top of his boots and went his way.

He made a very pretty picture in his confusion.—Detroit Tribune.

LIGHTS SHOWN BY FISH.

Dr. Borstleman's Surprising Discovery and the Simple Explanation.

Dr. Borstleman was at Lake Denmark, N. J., a few days ago studying the fauna and flora of that wild and beautiful section of Morris county. While strolling around the shallow shore of the lake on Sunday evening he discovered a marvelous thing which made his blood tingle with hope that he was about to add to the ichthological knowledge of the country, says New York Sun. He saw in the clear water near the shore some bright objects flashing with phosphorescent fire. The doctor knew of phosphorescent fish in salt water, and was aware also that nothing of the kind had ever been noted as inhabiting fresh water. Consequently he believed that he had discovered a new species, and he made haste to get his minnow net and capture one of the lively little creatures. It was no easy matter to do this, but after trying for an hour he succeeded in catching two of the fish in one scoop of the net. Delighted with his great luck, he hurried to the house and examined his prizes by the light of a kerosene lamp. They were each two and three-quarter inches long, and almost transparent, with a stripe of silvery sheen down each side from gills to tail. Under the lamp the phosphorescence could not be seen, but this did not deter the doctor from going on with the examination. He dissected one of the fish carefully, and then removed the lamp from the room. There was the phosphorescent glow upon the card where he had placed the viscera of the little fish; moreover, they seemed to be imbued with life. Sticking a pin through the center of the glowing sac he brought the light back, and opening the sac disclosed four or five of the large fire-flies which abound at the mountain lake. Two of them were still alive. The doctor's disappointment was keen, but he could not refrain from laughing at the simplicity of the solution of the matter. The glowing insects had been taken in by the lively little fish as they struggled upon the surface of the water, and their strong incandescence shone through the translucent sides of their captors.

Not His Fault.

"Poor little creature!" exclaimed Uncle Allen to the mosquito that was buzzing about him. "There's room in this great world for both you and me. . . . But you shouldn't try to crowd me," he added a moment later as the insect alighted on his nose. And he crushed it remorselessly.—Chicago Tribune.
